

ISHMAEL NA MY NAME

Moby-Dick poetry in Pidgin English

One Haiku for each chapter

Onyinye Miriam Uwolloh

Introduction

I am from Nigeria, a country in West Africa, which has over 510 living languages currently being spoken. Growing up in the former capital of Lagos, which is a melting pot of people of different tribes and religions from all over the country, taught me the strength that is in diversity. Pidgin English is widely spoken and was developed out of a desperate need for communication amongst the tribes in Colonial times. In Nigeria, although our pidgin is based primarily off British English, many words are also coined from Portuguese and the various languages spoken throughout the nation

If one looks back at most of the beginnings of conflicts in history, most, if not all, stem from misunderstandings or lack of tolerance. Nevertheless, the Pequod crew must have found a way to communicate despite the language barriers and differences in beliefs. Although many characters spoke in a manner different from Ishmael's, Queequeg stood out the most to me because he spoke in Pidgin English. In fact, one of the words Queequeg uses is 'sabee' which means 'to know/understand' and it exists in Nigerian Pidgin as well. Therefore, in response to the novel, and as a nod to the various nationalities who must have had to communicate while sailing on the Pequod, I have created a haiku for each chapter of Moby-Dick using Nigerian pidgin. This idea was inspired by my fluent knowledge of Japanese, Pidgin English, and British/American English.

A haiku is a Japanese form of poetry where one has three lines with syllables of five, seven, then five respectively. In Japanese, it is much easier to work around this due to the language structure. However, for Pidgin English, it is more difficult for the poet to work with the seventeen syllables. Nevertheless, I believe that although one might not fully understand all the words used in this piece, the essence of Melville's novel transcends language. Happy reading!

CHAPTERS 1 - 12

Ishmael na my name	I come go chapel
My heart dey do me somehow	Na so cenotaphs plenty
I dey go whaling	But fear no catch me
